I. Write from a point of view

Crash! I was minding my own business, munching through the soil to find some deliciously decaying leaves when I heard a gigantic crash. The noise that came from above was louder than anything I had ever heard before.

I came up to the surface to see what was going on. Dark liquid started leaking out. A huge metal object smashed onto my house. I screamed with horror. The liquid was coming closer. Before I knew it, I was submerged into the water.

I dug deeper into the soil while munching leaves. The leaf got dirtier by the second. I dug as deep as I could to make myself a new home. I gathered up leaves to make my bed. I collected some ~~the~~ pebbles to make some storage. I dug sideways and then

I dug sideways and then upwards. I came to a clearing. I caught a glimpse of something wiggly.

Dear Sir/Madam,

✓ My name is Georgina. Philp and I go to Goonhavern Primary School. Our class is very interested about the satellites and I really want to ask you some questions. ✓ Is there going to be anyone in the rocket? What time is it going to take off? We found a strange object in our school field. On the side it had a logo that said ESA and I was wondering have you lost anything with ESA on the side? How much work did you have to do to get this far? Can people come and watch? Is it going to be on TV? How many satellites are going to go to space?

✓ Will this happen regularly?

I can't wait to hear from you and see the answers to my questions!

Yours Sincerely, Georgina. Philp

Dear Sir / Madam

Where?
Hiddema. My name is Anja Hiddema. We had an incident a thingy magigy landed on our schools field. Have you tested anything recently? Perhaps you tried launching a satellite on Sunday? Was it unmakey a salure? In any case it's a sure pleasure meeting a fellow space lover. I'll try describing the thingy magigy and maybe you reconize it: It was very battered slightly slightly burnt. There was a shallow crater around it, as it is it fell with great force. It was slightly near the trees and some said it had aliens inside. I expect to be hearing from you very soon and thank you for your time.

Yours faithfully Anja Hiddema
